Criteria for Identification of Advanced & Slow learners

Catering to student diversity helps ensure that all students have access to education, regardless of their race, gender, social class, poverty, or learning disability. It can also help students develop a wider range of interests and skills. It involves acknowledging and respecting the differences among students, and providing a variety of resources and opportunities to help them succeed. The students are evaluated in terms of knowledge and skills. Our institution organizes an orientation program for newly admitted U.G. and P.G. students. Students are assessed continuously through regular teaching, interactions and regular viva by subject teachers. The slow learners are identified and are provided with the tutorial teaching. The students who get less than 50% marks continuously has been considered as a slow learner and given special attention to them during classes.
