Venue: Vaagdevi college of Pharmacy.
Students participated: Students of Pharm D and B. Pharmacy
Number of students participated: 55
After student interaction with speaker vote of thanks was given by the organizing committee member.

The main purpose of the event is to keep informed the student. It is important to be able to identify and understand the research approach underlying any given study because the selection of a research approach influences the questions asked, the methods chosen, the statistical analyses used, the entrances made, and the ultimate goal of the research. Although some research may incorporate both qualitative and quantitative methodologies, in their 'pure' form there are significant differences in the assumption underlying these approaches, as well as in the data collection and analysis procedures used.

After student interaction with Mrs. S. Pavani, vote of thanks was given by the organizing committee member.

A patent is a type of intellectual property that gives its owner the legal right to exclude others from making, using, or selling an invention for a limited period of time in exchange for publishing an enabling disclosure of the invention. In most countries, patent rights fall under private law and the patent holder must sue someone infringing the patent in order to enforce their rights.

Filing a patent can not only transform your idea into an invention but it can also help secure exclusive rights to market or license your invention.

A patent is a type of intellectual property that gives its owner the legal right to exclude others from making, using, or selling an invention for a limited period of time in exchange for publishing an enabling disclosure of the invention. In most countries, patent rights fall under private law and the patent holder must sue someone infringing the patent in order to enforce their rights.

Filing a patent can not only transform your idea into an invention but it can also help secure exclusive rights to market or license your invention

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE:

Pharmaceutical Sciences is a dynamic and interdisciplinary field that aims to integrate fundamental principles of Physical and Organic chemistry, Engineering, Biochemistry, and Biology to understand how to optimize delivery of drugs to the body and translate this integrated understanding into new and improved therapies against human disease. Herbal technology involves use of plant-based formulations to alleviate the diseases. Substances derived from the plants remain the basis for a large proportion of the commercial medications used today for the treatment of heart disease, high blood pressure, pain, asthma, and other problems. Herbal drug technology is used for converting botanical materials into medicines, where standardization and quality control with proper integration of modern scientific techniques and traditional knowledge is important. Further, translational research is the process of applying knowledge from basic biology and clinical trials to techniques and tools that address critical medical needs. Unlike applied sciences, translational research is specifically designed to improve health outcomes. As a relatively new research discipline, translational research incorporates aspects of both basic science and clinical research, requiring specific skills and resources. In the present conference, experts from diverse
